I control the shortcode associated with this audit.

All calls-to-action (e.g., keywords, cell-submit fields) on the website are inactive.

The website generates no traffic or revenue.

The website is outside my control, and no one with whom I work (e.g., client, partner company, affiliate marketer) controls it.

Add further comments in the box below, as necessary.

Although content providers need not own or manage the websites representing their programs, they nevertheless assume responsibility for ensuring that their programs comply with the CTIA Short Code Monitoring Handbook. By completing and submitting this form, you agree that all calls-to-action associated with the audit are disabled and that they generate no revenue or traffic. Should the website remain uncorrected, you might receive another audit notice. In such cases, you must resubmit this form to close the new audit. Should the calls-to-action be found active, a new audit will be escalated to the CTIA for immediate enforcement action.
